 - b. JUNIORS will place up to eight classes (approximately two from each species) and will answer four sets of questions which will all be included in the scoring for both team and individual awards. There will be one set of questions for each species (beef, sheep, swine, and goats). Juniors will fill-out a scantron with their answers to the questions while the contestants are judging the class.
 - c. An optional oral reasons contest will be available for JUNIOR contestants. Juniors will give two sets of oral reasons. These scores will not be included in the scoring for team and individual awards, but separate awards will be provided to the top contestants.
2. The contest will be judged in two rounds, with an attempt to arrange four classes - one class of each species - per round. Contest organizers will announce which classes will be questions classes and oral reasons classes the day of the contest.
